Home Page

Welcome to Massimo Tali's personal website. This website was born in order to introduce and advertise Massimo Tali's professional profile. A motivated and enthusiastic electronics engineer, he spent some years working as software engineer, IT analyst in the Italian industrial field and in IT consultancy private firms. In 1995 years he could improve his skills in the field of information technology and real time systems for safety critical applications. As creative thinker, he was always interested in the conception of new solutions, researching new potential products in the field of information systems and system engineering, combining them in one product. He loves sport, travelling and hanging in touch with his friends. If you'd like to know more about him, visit the other website pages. Below you can see his personal e-mail.

- Designing and developing a personal and Touch Response Mobile website in Apple style for web. Added new features and improved the classical website. The mobile site consists in: a presentation part and a RSS information part. The new part is a news RSS aggregator, which is triggered by RESTful web services requests to the Yahoo search engine in YQL for the knowledge discovery (artificial intelligence). The RSS functionalities were: the news palimpsest from the online newspapers (world wide news, finance, sports, musics), the knowledge extraction, the assessment of the world wide weather conditions. Since the 3d of January 2019 Yahoo's feed web service was closed and it was migrated in the search engine online such as Yahoo News, Google News and Bing News.
